Excellent read. Highly recommended m

Full of intriguing tidbits. Experience for yourself.

Give yourself a wider experience with only a few morsels or saturate in total immersion, either way this one of those lite reads that lend themselves to more than merely so much filler and lack of substance.

I liked this, from Einstein: "The most beautiful and most profound experience is the sensation of the mystical. It is the sower of all true science. ... To know that what is impenetrable to us really exists, manifesting itself as the highest wisdom and the most radiant beauty which our dull faculties can comprehend only in their primitive forms - this knowledge, this feeling is at the center of true religiousness."

My spirit will forever be changed.

This book holds doctrine and teachings, but holds so much spiritual truth. It is a beauty to have been a person to partake of it. Thank you.

The messages are clear.

These messages are clear, for thousands of years. I wondered why the Creator play such a game, time and understandings.

Related to everyday life

I liked most of the quotes. They are related to your day to day life. One must read once a day or go through some of them as you find time. Give them time to sink, as you grow your thoughts deepens. They will help you to develop better perspective of life.

Summarize this book in one sentence. We are all gods and we should look within ourselves to find a good .

I have spent a lifetime reading and finding benefit from mystic traditions and wisdom literature from many cultures . This book takes quotes from some of those cultures out of context to support the view that we are essentially gods or contain a divine spark. To that end, we should look within ourselves to find all the good in the world . I've seen within myself , in the words of the great profit the Incredible Hulk , " you wouldn't like me when I am angry ." I am certainly not a god, and goodness is not at the center of my soul . And I guarantee that anyone can have their buttons pushed to the point that they will reveal the darkness of their own souls unless they are delusional .

Great ones

Good one. If filter exists to select authors and read it will be more useful. The publisher has done good work.

Aaron Schuschu says

By and large it was what makes conservatives laugh at liberals and what makes liberals scratch their heads about conservatives. In other words, my problem with self help is that I can help myself by myself. I believe in me. Take your "secrets" someplace else. Because I know the truth- as Jon Anderson once sang- don't surround yourself with yourself. Which, looking back at what I just wrote, I contradicted myself.

Wise words.

A great little book of intelligent quotes. I believe it is best to read a quote a day, to contemplate it's meaning and where possible to find a place for it within your life.

Another gem on Amazon

So many beautiful quotes from mystics and great minds just enough to make your day awesome and full of positivity. Must read if you are a seeker of self knowledge.

Sharon Moriarty says

A lot of great quotes in this book. I think the Author is in the Rosicrucian Order but he draws his inspiration from numerous sources. In any case, it was great material to read and he accomplishes being very broad-banded in his perspective.

Sarah Crawford says

This is another book by the AMORC. It starts out talking about not needing any dogma or any 'middle men' for spirituality. They support the quest for self-knowledge. The quotes are from many different sources including the Tao Te Ching, Albert Einstein, Plato and various others. The quotes themselves are very good and it all makes for an interesting book.
