Holy Hotness What A Story!!!

Every once in awhile, I'll get a story that I can't just simply read...I Devour It!! This is one of those stories!! I felt that it started as a Hate Story, moved onto a Love Story, then became a story about sacrifice and growing up! I Loved Everything About It!!

Mackenzie had a hard life until she met and fell in love with Carter. He was everything she was looking for in a man. He was kind, sensitive but, he was older than her and had 2 teenage sons. She had worked very hard to overcome her past, and had a great new life with Carter being front and center. Then came the unexpected! Carter's sons were coming! They were prepared to hate Mac, thinking of her as a gold digger after their father's money. I could just feel the tension and hate rolling off the two boys! I knew they were trouble! Mac was in a bad position with the teen boys. She wasn't their stepmother, and really had no say so in what they did. They knew it too!!

There were a lot of emotional and trying times as I read! This story had me going! I loved Mac! I felt a great deal of respect for her, and how she handled herself throughout the story. I'm hoping that this won't be the end! I'm dying to see if the relationship with Carter stands the test of time.

Phewww boy! I thought we were going to have a Mrs. Robinson moment, nearly one but she held it together. I kept turning the pages. I have never read a story like this. I was captivated.

This review is based on the ARC provided by the author and/or the publisher via NetGalley in exchange for my honest opinion.

4.5 Stars. This was not what I expected at all and as someone who has read thousands of books, it's not an easy task to be surprised. Mac is a young woman in love with an older man and challenged by his two sons. I don't want to delve too much into the plot because it would taint the experience. The story edges some very fine lines and even tentatively crosses over them but at that point, the characters were developed so well that I wasn't exactly turned off to what was starting to happen. Without the journey, I don't think I could've turned off my own limiters enough to enjoy this.

Do things happen that are considered taboo or maybe a little traditionally morally wrong ? Yes. Did I enjoy it anyways and was I intrigued enough to keep going? Yes. It's fiction and entertain it does. I have a feeling I know where the series is headed and I need the peace of mind of confirming my suspicions.

Carter is not what I hope for in a hero. Hunter is someone to watch for. Mac is a mess but I like her anyways. The writing was done well. The plot kept me interested though it started off a little slow. All in all a very interesting read.

Complimentary copy received and reviewed voluntarily.

This was just wow. I voluntarily accepted an advanced reader copy of this book.

This story started out pretty rough. Mac is 25 years old and dating Carter a man almost twice her age. He has two teenage sons, Hunter who is 17 and Carey who is 15. When they first meet her they dislike her BUT Hunter secretly thought she was hot. They were rude to her especially Carey until one night things shifted and they started respecting her. They both realized that Mac cared more about them than their own parents.

All this time Hunter's feelings for her were getting deeper and deeper. He actually treated Mac with much more respect than his own dad. His feelings got much deeper when Mac confided in him about her horrible past; something that Carter doesn't know about.

Mac never reciprocated Hunter's feelings but she did start questioning lots of things in her life including her relationship with Carter. She cared for Hunter but always used the excuse that he was a minor and her boyfriend son. When Hunter turned 18 he made a decision that changed the dynamics of the house which caused a rift between him and his dad.

I feel they are still some things that need to be revealed and I couldn't give this book a 5 because of the end. So I'm assuming there is a part two which I will be more than happy to read. And regardless of the blurb, I'm Team Hunter, ?

I believe that this is the first book that I've read by Annie Stone, (I promise I'm not too challenged, just read a ton of books like a beast), and I did enjoy it, not to mention I wouldn't have guessed the journey I was taken on from the blurb. In no way is that bad, just wanted to state it for the record, as it was a good surprise. In a nutshell, Mackenzie is 25 years old when she meets, and falls for the much older Carter. Even as age is just a number (that's my story and I'm sticking with it), for whatever reason, I don't really read the whole older man, younger woman romance. But Carter and Mac were cute together, and yet, steamy as well. Annie Stone has a talented writing style that took me on an emotional journey that came out of left field with some of the f-bomb worthy dropping moments, especially after a few HUGE twists came out of left field with the entrance of the two teenage boys that didn't want Mac there. I still have many questions left after that ending, with the biggest one being, is there another part? And that's why I gave it a 4 star rating, as too many things that I NEED TO KNOW, are up in the air. With all of that being said, I do HIGHLY RECOMMEND this original story to ALL!

Blurb:

When Mackenzie meets Carter, it's love at first sight. They have a blissful year together before trouble arrives. In the form of Carter's two teenage sons.

When Hunter and Carey decide they want to live with their father in California, Mackenzie knows right away that she's in for a tough time. And she couldn't be more right.

The two boys show her on a daily basis that she's not good enough for their dad. In fact, they make it quite clear their lives would be better without her. But could it be that Hunter has quite a different motive for hating her?

Konny says

A Fighting Chance by Annie Stone is the first book in a three book series.

Meet Mackenzie - Mac, and Hunter.

Mac meets Carter Tilman and they have this crazy insta-chemistry. He's a successful, much older than her business man.

Fast forward. One year later they are happy, very happy. And then his teenage sons move in with them. Mac and the boys gets thrown in cold water. This can't go well. They despise her and want her gone.

Hunter, he's the older brother at 17, is an angry, shallow and crude teen and has a lot of grow up to do.

But slowly his feelings toward Mac change.

Favorite Quote: " You can't choose who you fall for. "

A Fighting Chance is a brilliant book, a raw and gritty read and I read it in one sitting. I couldn't put it down. But, and that's my only but, this book ends in a cliffhanger. I really can't wait 'till the next part in this series releases.

A Fighting Chance is beautifully thought out, beautifully told and beautifully written. I love the characters and I love the writing- I could feel the characters emotions in the words.

I give 5 Stars and thank you Annie Stone !!

3.5 stars

This book really took a whole 'nother direction than what I expected. In the beginning when I realized this, I didn't know if I would end up liking it or not. However, it did keep me interested until the end, and there was no moment that I wanted to put it down. However, in my opinion a lot of information was missing.

Especially in how Mac and Carter's relationship actually developed. Their love didn't feel real because of this. So I did not feel a real connection between them.

I had to get used to Carter's son Carey and Hunter. They were so mean and hurtful towards Mac, and I was glad when Mac finally stood up to them. I also felt that the relationship between Carter and his sons weren't highlighted enough. I did love how Mac's relationship with Carey and Hunter developed. Those teenagers went through some major changes themselves. I don't want to give too much away, so that is why I am keeping my tags and review as general as possible. Also the way this book ended I am definitely expecting a sequel. I am really looking forward to where the author will take this story, because I am intrigued!
