This book is for all Spiritual Minded Beings who know and feel that there is something more on this great spiritual journey that is life. It is written for anyone who has a zest for the unknown powers that we possess as a Collective Group of Divine Beings or as Individuals on this physical plane when we choose ""Love"" as our "daily affirmation."

When we choose ""Love" over "Fear," "we are empowered to create a world that is free from judgment of others to a place where we are compassionate with all that is created and we see only the beauty in our differences. We know in our Hearts that "all things" "are interconnected "and one action causes a reaction in our daily lives.

More importantly, this book is about Transformation and the Sacredness that we each carry within our being. Its message is "Inspirational," "Spiritual "and "Empowering "for those who are open to positive awareness and Change. And finally, it is for those who realize that we co-create our reality everyday and we're the only ones who can "change it "from "within "through "Prayer," "Meditation "and "Self Realization "of who we are.

Blue says

Some things about this book are amazing. It does have a very uplifting message and some great quotes and some decent poetry. The downsides are primarily with format. There are a lot of blank pages and wasted space. It detracts from the overall feel of the book. It would be much better as a little decorative gift book. The quotes are roughly half the book, and half of those are from Violett and half from famous figures. The poetry has moments of brilliance and insight and in some spots it lags. Overall, I would recommend this book in the future if it gets republished in a more appealing format.
