Holy moly are these women talented!?! I loved watching them compete growing up and really enjoyed learning more about what went on behind the scenes. Their humble beginnings in Compton make their success in a predominantly white, rich kids sport even more incredible. I kept thinking of the movie "A League of Their Own" and wondering if things ever grew a little too competitive between them. I loved the story about Serena beating her older sister, Venus, in the French Open and Venus staying to take pictures of her sister at the trophy ceremony.

Devastating about their older sister getting shot in Compton, the crowd booing Serena in the Indian Wells tournament because Venus injured her leg and they couldn't play against each other, and Venus being diagnosed with Sjorgen's syndrome.

Amazing they won three gold medals in doubles and remained so strong through all the opposition and challenges they faced.
