Spring Moon Mary Ellen Courtney

FROM AWARD WINNING AUTHOR MARY ELLEN COURTNEY

It's not easy to juggle marriage, children, and the past, when the past just won't go away.

The reality of marriage was not what Hannah Spring had in mind when she blithely swapped rings with her husband, Jon. When she envisioned her marriage, it didn't include his long ago divorce from the annoyingly beautiful Celeste, or her pre-Jon, and never discussed, liaison with the still perplexing Stroud.

Then things change for ex-Celeste and Jon's past crashes over the seawall of their marriage and boils through the safe port of their marriage. It had never occurred to Hannah that his ex-wife could rip the Band-Aid off her own history, much less endanger her life and limb.

Getting married takes a few minutes, being married takes all the other minutes. The sequel to "Wild Nights," "Spring Moon" takes you through a humorous and poignant year of other minutes, in complicated times.

Brenda Perlin says

Spring Moon had me laughing out loud from the start and by surprise, feeling emotional and fluttery in my chest. It's author, Mary Ellen Courtney has a quirky, funky, desirable writing style. She lured me in with her off beat sense of humor and her unusual way of telling a compelling story.

This was an entertaining ride, an unpredictable adventure I was more than happy to attend to. This is an intriguing story that at times was relatable and identifiable. Enjoyed the surprises that kept coming. Layer upon layer, I was moved into the unknown.

Spring Moon is a breath of fresh air, filled with a colorful plot line and lively characters. It was easy to fall into the rhythm of this complicated story.

Quote ~

"She came back with clean hands, but she'd obviously had shaved ice. Her face was rainbow tie-dye. If I could figure out a way to market her face at the end of each day, she'd make more money than Jackson Pollock."
