Angela Barakat says

I read this with both my children.

Sheila says

The classic disney story based on the classic Disney movie. What is there not to like about Lady and the Tramp?

Karen says

I'm not a fan of these books. No character development in these things. But the kids think they are fabulous.

John says

When you have children you end up reading all sorts of books - some good, some not so good.

This was ok-ish... but most importantly - my daughter liked it...

Theresa says

retelling of the movie with movie stills

Dharia Scarab says

My love of reading started when i was young, and it gives me immense pleasure to provide books to Spread the Word Nevada, an organization that passes them on to children in the community. They are a terrific organization supporting an important cause. If your local I encourage you to check them out. For those living further a field, look in your own community, their may already be a similar program in place. And if not, you can always help start one.

Myself, I go out on the weekends and shop thrift store and bulk book lots to rescue books and donate them. Sometimes I'll find a book I remember reading when I was young and will read it again before passing it on.

I don't rate these books using my normal scale, instead I give most of them three stars. This isn't a Criticism of the book, simply my way of rating them as good for children.

Cimani says

puppies..... puppies.....puppies!!!!!! i loved it!!!!

Danielle says

Love the artwork but nothing beats the movie.

Shirley Revill says

Loved by children of all ages. I also love the film and would you believe I cried when I went to see it years ago. What am I like I ask you.

Jim Dear presents his wife, Darling, with a pretty box on Christmas Eve and it contains a gorgeous cocker spaniel puppy. 'I love her,' says Darling, 'She's a perfect lady!'

So Lady settles in and when she is six months old she is given a new collar and name tag. Lady is undoubtedly the princess of the household and is convinced that she is the luckiest dog in the world.

But as summer approaches the Darlings play with Lady less and less and there is talk of a baby. 'Who is this baby,' Lady asks herself. A husky voice behind her suddenly declares, 'A baby is nothing but a bundle of trouble.' Lady turns to see a scruffy looking dog that isn't even wearing a collar. He introduces himself as Tramp but Lady tells him that she never speaks to strangers. However Tramp warns her that when a baby comes along a dog moves out.

Sure enough soft, cooing sounds eventually come out of the master bedroom and Lady discovers a new baby. And when the Darlings decide to go away for a few days they introduce Aunt Sarah, who arrives with a basket out of which are staring two pairs of blue eyes.

The eyes turn out to belong to Aunt Sarah's two cats, Si and Am. And they create havoc in the house but unfortunately Lady gets the blame and is shooed out. She wanders off and, on the other side of town, is attacked by some fierce dogs but Tramp is on hand to clear them off. Not only that, he takes Lady along to his favourite restaurant's back door where some food is provided for the pair.

They become friends and that night they sleep under a full moon. The following morning they explore but Tramp chases some chickens and when the owner calls the dog pound, it is Lady that gets caught. She finds herself behind bars but with having a name tag attached she is soon returned to her home.

Aunt Sarah then chains Lady up outside and she is so sad. And when night falls she spies a large rat going into the baby's room through an open window. She tries to break free to warn the household but is unable to do so. Fortunately Tramp is on hand to take charge and he soon pounces on the rat but in doing so he damages property in the lounge. Aunt Sarah comes along and shoos them both out of the house, calls the dogcatcher and Tramp is taken away..

Later the following morning the Darlings return and discover the dead rat and realise that the two dogs have saved the day. Lady is on hand but Tramp is on his way to the pound. Jim Dear quickly takes a taxi, chases the dogcatcher and gets Tramp released.

The pair then settle down at the Darlings and before too long not only does Tramp have his own collar and name tag but he and Lady have a family of four adorable puppies ... everyone lives happily ever after ... a charming tale beautifully illustrated in the typical Walt Disney style.

Heather says

This is my daughters favorite little book right now. There's not much to it, but its small and she enjoys looking at it.

Dolly says

Classic Disney tale in book form. Nothing more or less than an abridged version of the movie. A particular favorite for our girls.

Rebecca says

Love Disney and loved this short story

Noelle Maryam says

The story is about a cocker spaniel and a mongrel who fall in love.
