The Witch in my House is a very cute story about a boy named Sammy who suspects his mother might be hiding a little secret. My 4 year old really enjoyed the different examples of why Sammy believes his mother might actually be a witch and the illustrations were adorable. The only one I had to explain to him was the one about the father being a rhino with horns and coming home not quite right. Some of the rhyming verses didn't flow smoothly for me, but overall, this was a fun and cute read that can be enjoyed anytime, not just at Halloween!

Anyone who enjoys parenting with a little magic or mystery will absolutely love this book. Moms especially are going to get some inquisitive looks from their kids after reading this one. It even works well as a sleepy-time cuddle book, instead of just a Halloween book.

I loved this sweet book. It was a lovely take on how being a parent can be magical and not scary. The illustrations were fabulous and the poem was adorable. I enjoyed reading it with my little ones as I'm sure others will.

I just received this book today in the mail. As soon as I opened it, my little princess wanted it to be read to her (she is 4 years old). It was such a cute book. The illustrations are wonderful. This book kept her attention and we have already read it several times. Each time we read it, she has more details to add...she finds the objects within the illustrations. I am sure we will be adding this book to our nightly reading stack. I look forward to future books by this author.

Her Review (age 4): Spoiler Alert: She loves the dinosaur hidden in the photo. The pages smell good, new, fresh like oranges :) I love it so much.

This book is a must add to your little ones library collection. It is sure to be a favorite.
