Teased by Fire Molly O'Hare

Olive has always been content living an anti-social existence while letting the characters she writes about fulfill her wild side. She's worked hard to achieve a zero human interaction life. However, that came to an end when out of nowhere her best friend announced she's moving out, and her brother was moving in. Not only does Olive now have to deal with the guy that has teased her their whole life, but he also came with a cat the size of a human child.

Hank's had a thing for Olive for as long as he could remember. When he realized she needed a roommate, he jumped at the chance. Why wouldn't he when annoying Olive had always been his favorite pastime? Then one day when Hank let his curiosity get the better of him, he discovered Olive had a whole other side of her she kept hidden away.

Now, all Hank had to do was convince Olive life was a heck of a lot more fun when you add some fire to it. Honestly, what could possibly go wrong?

Angela Verdenius says

Thoroughly enjoyed this read - it was hot, funny, and heartwarming. And as for a cat named Dog, with all her funny ways, that just added the icing on the cake of an already great read!

ItaPixie says

Teased By Fire was a nice, funny and sexy read.

Olive, our heroine, works from home, she is an introvert and elusive person who prefers to live in her mind, and what interesting inner monologues she has. Hank, our hero is her opposite, he is a fireman with a lot of friends who loves to go out. They know each other since they were kids and Hank never missed an opportunity to play jokes on her.

Now that they are housemates will they kill each other? Or Olive finally will let their relationship be more than a research?

First time I've read a book written by this author but when I turned the last page of this one I was ready to start the others because I've really enjoyed Molly O'Hare smart and sweet writing.

Copy kindly provided by the Publisher/Author.

?? The Book Whisperer ??

Arc received in return for an honest review.

Feel the heat with this, Molly O'Hare's latest romantic comedy which will have you laughing out loud at Olive the books anti-social heroine and the predicaments she gets herself into whilst swooning over her friends older brother Hank the hot, hunky fireman who manages to sweep us off our feet (well mine anyway) as he puts himself in the front and centre of Olive's life as he vies for her attention. Unawares to Olive, Hank's been in love with her for years and now they've become roomies we get to witness all the tears and laughter they go through in order to achieve their happy ever after.

A great storyline that's wonderfully written with amazing characters and a cat named Dog. This was my first book by this particular author but it won't be my last I'll definitely be checking out her other work.

I'm not going to lie, I've been dying to get my hands on Hank and Olive's story since I was Teased by the blurb. See what I did there? Sorry. I'll stop. No one does romcom better than Molly O'Hare and this book brings all of her talent right to the forefront. I laughed so hard I cried while reading this but she perfectly balances the hysterical comedy and brilliant banter with true sweep you off your feet, feel it in your soul romance creating the kind of romcom that steals your heart while it keeps you smiling.

Olive is hands down my favorite character from Molly. That girl is like my book soul sister. So many things would come out of her mouth where I was left going "YAAAAAS! PREACH QUEEN" while I was cracking up. Olive is so funny, so adorably sweet, and so relatable. Hank on the other hand, while he's also equally hilarious he's most definitely H.O.T. hot!

The heat is ramped up in this book compared to Molly's previous books and it is DIVINE! Olive and Hank definitely set the pages on fire more than once during this book. Hank and Olive along with Hank's giant cat, named Dog had me flying through the pages of this unputdownable read! Mix laugh out loud hilarity and steamy sexiness with some major swoon and a good dose of heart stopping moments and you've got that magic that is Teased by Fire.

Reviewed on behalf of 3 Degrees of Fiction Blog

This was a fast and easy read, I enjoyed but would not reread. The characters were easy and not very deep in my opinion and if their age hadn't been mentioned through the book I would have guessed them to be at least ten years younger than they actually were. Their actions were more than childish and while I laughed about some of the teasing, most of it was just too much, it seemed too forced in my opinion.

And while I know a few hermits and prefer less people over a crowd any day, I find it hard to believe that a young and successful young woman as Olive would prefer absolute no human contact to a point where she closes herself off of everybody. I understand that her past has formed her, but honestly from what we got of it, it didn't seem convincing for me. It didn't make sense.

I also could not really believe that Hank had a thing for her. It wasn't convincing. At all. All in all I can say that the characters fell rather short.

The writing style was okay. I sometimes stumbled a bit over the wording, but I wouldn't call it mistakes, just unusual wordings and sentence structures.

All in all it was a fast paced short read, good between two more challenging reads.

Once again Molly O'Hare has blown me away with another sensational book!!!!

Teased by Fire is the perfect story if you are looking for a binge worthy rom-com!!!

Oh Olive! You are the perfect character and if you were real, you would definitely be my best friend! She has weirdness in spades, sass and when Hank moves in, she also gets more than she bargains for in ways of research!

Hank is the perfect specimen! Gorgeous bod, gorgeous heart and it has always belonged to the girl he thought was off limits!

But not anymore...

This book will have you laughing out loud at the craziness that happens within Olive's mind, a crazy toddler sized cat named Dog, pranks that can sometimes backfire and Lord Waffles ruling the world!

But this book will also make you shed a little tear (if you don't Olive might punch you in the jaw!)

I don't want to write to much about this because I do not want to spoil it for anyone!

But please please one click this book!!!!

You will laugh, cry, do little happy dances while rootin for these two!

The perfect well rounded story with sensational characters and a beautiful story line!

Can't wait to find out more about Miranda ??

~4.5 STARS~

Teased by Fire is the perfect combination of steam, romance, and humor!!!!

The book opens with Olive steaming mad that her bestie, Miranda, is moving out. She isn't mad that Miranda is leaving. She is sad, but she would never ask her friend to turn down her dream job. No, she is mad that Miranda's brother, Hank, is moving in. She has worked hard to maintain her anti-social existence, and Hank is the complete opposite. This girl is clueless about what's coming her way....see Hank has always had a thing for her, and he is about tired of keeping those feelings secret.

Can I just say that I ABSOLUTELY ADORE Olive!!!! She is one of the most likeable and unique female lead characters I've had the pleasure to meet....and she owns that uniqueness which made me love her more. This woman has a Christmas tree in her room all year long! I would love that!!!! That's not to say she doesn't have insecurities like most women do, but she does not let those insecurities determine the direction of her life.

Hank is one of those guys you can't help but love. Yeah, he's pretty easy on the eyes, but he is much more than his looks. He loves Olive for who she is even if he thinks she needs to get out more, but he accepts that about her. He challenges Olive which she needs sometimes. And, who couldn't love a guy who has a cat named Dog? Speaking of Dog, she was a character herself! I LOVED HER!!!

This wasn't just a fantastic romantic comedy. It was about accepting who you are as a person and owning it. That is a lesson I think a lot of us could learn. This is my first book by Molly O'Hare, and I'm so thankful and excited that I found her. If you want a book that just brings a smile to your face and makes reality slip away for a bit, you can't find a better book than Teased by Fire.

Teased by Fire is the third romantic comedy by Molly O'Hare and having read all three, this book quickly became my favorite. Don't get me wrong - I loved Hollywood Dreams and Stumbling into Him but Teased by Fire is simply amazing.

I love the characters this author writes because they are real. If you've read my reviews before you will realize that I'm not about a size 2 supermodel that gets the billionaire most of the time. My most favorite 5 star reads are almost always the normal girl gets the boy. Well in this case, Olive is adorably quirky but she doesn't let Hank get away with much. Hank. Swoon. Hank is the ultimate book boyfriend. He's got the looks but he's also got a sensitive side and I adore him.

The author also adds pets and they truly have their own personalities and come off the pages; they're usually a bit mischievous which is great because who hasn't had a pet that doesn't realize they're the pet?

I absolutely recommend Teased by Fire - it's going to make you laugh out loud.

I was so excited to read this book when I read the blurb. The book did not disappoint! I love the characters, including the pets. They are so true to life and the story makes sense and flows well. Hank will make you swoon, you'll love Olive, and you'll laugh a lot. I highly recommend this read!!

-Kacie, ????????

This was my first book by Molly O'Hare and I thoroughly enjoyed it. It's a quick book but I thought it was a wonderful mix of laughter, sassiness, and lust/love.

The story follows Olive Quinn and Hank Parker. Olive is quirky, antisocial, and all around fantastic. I love that writing was her profession. It's always fun to read about authors in books. I found Olive to be very relatable because of her quirky mind and her love of books. She had a horrible upbringing and God awful parents, but every thing she does is to prove how strong she really is. Hank is Olives best friends brother, and a hunky fireman. He's been half in love with her for years but deemed her off limits until he was given an opportunity too good to pass up. He loves to harass her and get her riled up.

I loved the animal characters in this book. Dog starts off as the she-devil but then turns into Olives personal escort around the house. I thought it was neat to see how their relationship changed. I also loved the brief scene with Lord Waffles, I read it a few times because I found it so funny.

This won't be my last read by Molly O'Hare. I'll definitely be adding her other books to my TBR list.

Alyne Hart says

This is my third book by Molly, and by far, the best.

I went into it not really knowing what to expect, and it had me rolling from the very beginning and swooning just as hard.

First, we have Olive. Who, admittedly, she was a soul sister just from the first mention of a zombie apocalypse. She's a bit of a recluse, who sometimes maybe doesn't shower every day, wears her pajamas a lot and prefers books to humans.

Then we have Hank. Oh, dear LORD Hank. I knew Hank was going to be trouble from the word go. Hank who hates shirts. Hank who loves to play pranks on his Olive Oil. Hank, who has a cat named Dog the size of a human child who may or may not want to make Olive his next meal. And he's a firefighter, I mean, HELLO...

The set up is perfect. The writing is spot on. The blend of sweetness and humor is just right and Molly for sure turned up the heat with this couple and I AM LIVING FOR IT.

Molly, you have a winner winner chicken dinner on your hands.

Sissy's Romance Book Review says

Teased by Fire by Molly O'Hare is the story of Olive Quinn and Hank Parker.

Hank has been attracted to his sister Miranda's best friend Olive for a long time. Never acting on it because of the unsaid code of not messing with your sister's friends. But he is around 34 years old and when he learns his sister is moving out of her room in Olive's apartment, he grabs his chance to act on his feelings by moving in to his sister's vacant room. Olive is introvert that has a big imagination that writes romance books. Working from her apartment and in her room most of the time with only her best friend Miranda as her social go to person. But Miranda informed her two days ago she found a job and has to move to take the job and that her brother Hank is moving in. Olive thinks he is hot but out of her league and along with his annoying teasing her is making her panic that her world is changing. Along with the loss of a best friend who has been at her hip since they were little is causing her to take her corkiness to another level.

Hank is a hot fireman who is nothing but confident except with his feelings for Olive but he is working on securing those feelings with her. Olive is anything but confident and her corkiness adds to this book being so funny, along with Hank's reactions to her corkiness.

Really enjoyed this book...couldn't put it down.

Olive is in hell. Her best friend is moving out with only two days notice and told her brother about it. Now Olive is stuck with Hank the Tank as her roomie. Hank has been in love with Olive for a long time. Too afraid to make a move, he sees this opportunity as a sign to go after what he wants. Olive just wants to avoid him and any other human interaction at all costs. But Hank isn't called the Tank for nothing and before she knows it Olive is enjoying Hank and his company, just not the cat he brought with him! Will Olive be able to overcome the past and step into the future with Hank?

This was my second book by Molly O'Hare and it was amazing! Hank and Olive are absolutely adorable!

Dog the cat is so awesome; a characteristic of all of Ms O'Hare's books is a pet with lots of personality. Olive is quirky and an introvert, just like me. Hank is so head over heels for her and you can't help but love him! If you enjoy sweet, funny, sexy romances, Molly O'Hare is the author for you. 6 stars for the awesome Teased by Fire!

Someone get me the fire hose, Teased by Fire is scorching hot!! Molly O'Hare brings us sweet, saucy, and hot all in one book! Hank had my pulse thumping, while Olive had me laughing my butt off. No, seriously. Hank is a firefighter, yum, who has been in love with his little sister's best friend. He takes advantage of a situation and puts himself front and center into Olive's life. Olive is me. She hates people, she hates human interaction. She prefers her books. When an opportunity presents itself to do the dirty with hot Hank, she jumps in with both feet.

This is one book you don't want to miss out on! I love all of the humor that blends perfectly with the sweetness of the story. Then we get the heat ramped up and it turns Teased By Fire into a beautifully blended sweet, hot, and hilarious story! Hank will have you swooning, from his cute pranks to his devotion to Olive. Olive will have you laughing out loud, from her predicaments with Dog the cat to her utter obsession with Hank.

I'm so in love with Molly O'Hare's writing. Her characters are perfectly awkward, her romance is amazingly sweet, her humor will have tears rolling down your face. Teased By Fire gives you everything you need in a five star book! With the added benefits of Dog the cat. Hank and Olive will sweep you off your feet while also having you bent over laughing. What more could you ask for?

Beyond The Covers Blog says

Teased By Fire is a romantic comedy. Olive is super PO'd that her best friend and roommate has to move out and has her hot, firefighter brother her move in as soon as she leaves. (Not to mention he brings his huge Maine Coon cat named Dog) Hank has been in love with Olive for years and sees his sister leaving as his chance to make Olive his. A pretty funny story ensues with different pranks and how their personalities clash. On a more serious note it also shows how some familial relationships can really shape how a person perceived themselves along with their self worth.
