Mary Catelli says

Like Fight or Flight, this short story revolves about his early days, his first in-the-field assignment.

Where he suffers from boredom, having exhausted the immediate vicinities' delights. So he fudges up an excuse to get closer to battle zones in hopes of finding new stuff. (One notes that while this doesn't have Amberly Vail's footnotes, in the novels, one of his favorite excuses for doing brave stuff despite being a self-proclaimed coward is the chances at hedonism. You can judge his veracity for yourself.)

This being Cain, naturally he finds new stuff that he really doesn't want to find. Ends on a more ominous note than most.

Can be found in Ciaphas Cain Hero of the Imperium.
