Taymara Jagmohan says

Shall I compare thee to a summer's day?
Thou art more lovely and more temperate:
Rough winds do shake the darling buds of May,
And summer's lease hath all too short a date:
Sometime too hot the eye of heaven shines,
And often is his gold complexion dimm'd;
And every fair from fair sometime declines,
By chance, or nature's changing course, untrimm'd;
But thy eternal summer shall not fade
Nor lose possession of that fair thou ow'st;
Nor shall Death brag thou wander'st in his shade,
When in eternal lines to time thou grow'st;
So long as men can breathe or eyes can see,
So long lives this, and this gives life to thee.

I love Sonnet 18. It connected from the very first quatrain. :)

Who? :P You cannot know. hahahahahahah
Maybe it is just me. :) :P

Yours truly and ever blossoming,
Taymara. :)

Kirsty McCracken says

I love me some Shakespeare but I think I'm more for the plays than I am for the poems. 2?. I'll still be giving poetry a go again and again obviously but Shakespeare's not the guy for me in that department. Shame.

Taylor Morrison says

My favourite poems ever

Pink says

William Shakespeare 2 stars- I shouldn't be allowed in a book club

Misty Lynne says

This book is a compilation of little excerpts from the works of Shakespeare. I enjoyed reading an excerpt a day to my kids and discussing with them the meaning of the passage and the play (usually) it came from. This is a great way to introduce children to Shakespeare.
