Another cute volume. Sano is defrosting,

Steph Sinclair says

The doctor was the best in this one. :D

Suna says

There's so many assholes in this one.

Asshole #1: Kagurazaka, Izumi's rival.

Asshole #2: Nakao, Mizuki's rival who for some reason she befriends after she finds out he's bullying her.

Fuck that, I would've beat his twink-ass.

Asshole #3: Shizuki, Mizuki's brother who for some reason fucking hates Izumi. And he's also homophobic.

Fuck that dude, man. I'm glad the doctor told his bitch-ass off.

Lorena says

La fandom que llevo dentro quiere ponerle un 3 mínimo, pero no puedo darle esa nota a un manga que bromea sobre la homofobia. Me parece que la intención no es mala, pero hay algunas bromas que están fuera de lugar.

Kristine Hansen says

Still fluffy as ever, with the addition of Shizuki, Mizuki's homophobic, overbearing brother. Can I say that I'm really starting to like the school nurse?

Samantha says

This manga is a bit hard to follow for me. I'm going to read Volume 3, but after that I probably won't continue on with the series.

"I returned to Japan a few months ago...to meet my idol, high jump athlete Izumi Sano. I enrolled in Sano's school. A boy's school. Disguised as a guy."

And yet there's an all-girl's school across from the one Sano attends...

Good volume but I'm hoping to see something actually happen in terms of plot.

Welp, it's shojo. So, stalker Mizuki has infiltrated the harem paradise but turns out she's a terrible stalker. She had no idea that her idol quit high jumping. And yet she makes it seem like he's some god to her.

How the hell does she not know that?! Well, her super-gaijin bro Shizuki Claude Ashiya returns from America. He's a homophobe who kisses people in greeting, cuz you know. That's what Americans do. Along with having OPEN NOTE FINALS. I wish. If that were true, I'd be bragging 'bout that too.

Alas, her shojo dream might just end because homophobe bro is here to take her back to America!! But don't worry, as long as Sano can make his heart pound from his angelic high jump, she can stay. As you guessed, it works.

But things are never that easy in shojo. Jealous idol boys, bullying, unrealistic expectations, and ANGST must prevail.

And holy crap is Mizuki stupid. Girl, you are way too slow. Why wouldn't you lock the door when you're showering? Or why do you cry so much and grab dudes??? Idk how Nakatsu hasn't wondered about you...

Zaz says

Re-read. The art has already improved (argh Sano under the shower!) and the story is less messy than in the 1st volume. Mizuki cried several times and, of course, my eyes were watering, it's really a story I'm always involved in (even after more than 5 re-reads). Sano did great (and was drunk, ahem) and really started building links with Mizuki. The scenes between the brother and the doctor were very funny, adding an humorous touch to the most heavy part. A good sequel, with plenty of feelings.

Sophie says

Not a huge amount happens in this volume, but Sano as a kiss-fiend is ALWAYS hilarious!!

Beck says

I'm finding this series a bit hard to follow so far. I'm not the best manga reader, but I'm looking at a pretty high confused:following ratio for so early in the series. Maybe it'll get better as I become more familiar with the characters, the writer, etc.

Venus Star says

I definitely know, how Ashiya Mizuki feels. Because, like her I'm also a fan. So, it must be nice to cross the world, just to meet your idol. Got to know him not just by papers and tv, but personal too. Getting close to him as well, being friends or more than that.

Okay, officially love this manga. It's so cute and funny! I love Miyuki. She's sweet, but she also stands up for Sano. She believes in him so much that she even gives him the strength to overcome his injury. He has a psychological block now that he's physically healed, but Miyuki's faith in him drives him never to give up. It's so sweet.

Of course, there's some of the normal female obliviousness in this series. Sano knows that Miyuki is a girl. He keeps considering just telling her, but something keeps him from doing that. I imagine he can't keep it from her for too much longer. She has no idea and still maintains her charade as a guy. When her brother comes to visit and finds out, he is not pleased. He threatens to take her home. But things have gotten confusing between her and Sano after the drunken kiss (that he apparently doesn't remember). Now he's training for a jump contest in which he must win if he wants to keep her brother from taking her back to America with him.

These first two volumes have been so cute, and there's some really great humor. I love the school doctor. He's hilarious. I'm sticking with this one. Guess I need to get the next volume now.

Prude Filter: There's a little profanity and some innuendo. It should be fine for teens.

I'm mostly reading these because I actually enjoyed the Television Series (all three of them). The manga is, of course, the original but it's not quite as dynamic as the series were. There are pros and cons to both, I suppose. I think perhaps I should have read the manga first. However, I typically dislike Shoujo and Harem manga, so I still feel that I'm breaking new ground for myself by reading them in the first place.

If anything, the antics are amusing and since there are so many different characters, you're bound to find one to like. [I think the main reason I'm reading these is because she doesn't end up with the guy I thought she should, so by reading them, it's like I'm still in denial... or something. Whatever, I'm actually an action/adventure type so this genre is still pretty new to me].

DOC. is the besstttt

Dexter says

It's getting easier to distinguish the characters, though I'm not sure if that's because I'm getting more used to them or if the art's getting better. And while I didn't like some of the plots quite as much in this volume, I'm still loving the characters.

Second time reading:

Definitely still enjoyable. This time, it wasn't so much that I didn't like the plots, but rather that I just got tired of them. Kagurazaka just got kind of old, and I got tired of all the taunts and jokes about the high jump and everything. Shizuki did spice it up a little, and he's pretty cool. Of course, Umeda is just awesome as usual.
