Dearest Irene: A Love Story of World War II Paul Johansen

Dearest Irene is a love story of World War II. It is the true story of an arrogant, rebellious young man, a beautiful young woman and the love that sustained them through a year of military training, eighty-nine days of combat duty in Germany and nine months of boredom, temptation and danger waiting to get home. It is told through more than two hundred letters written by the young man to his wife and daughter during the final months of the War in Europe and the early months of Allied occupation. When his role in the war was over, and he was no longer a soldier, the man was still arrogant and even more rebellious, and the woman was still beautiful. But their youth was gone forever.
