Officer Daddy Jacqueline Diamond

Safe Harbor obstetrician Nora Kendall had always planned to have kids. But a recent divorce, and a recent birthday, point to Nora's window of opportunity getting smaller and smaller. She's looking for a man who will give her a baby—not a tall, dark and handsome younger man who isn't interested in the long term.

Leo Franco is bowled over when Nora informs him their one night of passion has resulted in a pregnancy. She's not trying to rope him in, that's for sure. It seems like she's actually pushing him away...because of his age?

Now Leo's out to show Nora he's the man she needs. He's a responsible cop, and he would be a great father. But how can Leo convince the good doctor that he's ready to give up his bachelor status for diaper detail?

I don't know why I occasionally try this imprint. These stories are generally not for me. If I'm going to read short category romance I prefer the crazy soap operaesque Presents line. Otherwise I like longer contemporaries which are not a category line.

So this book was so so. It wasn't awful but it wasn't great either. Too much going on in their lives and not really enough focus on the romance. Ending was very abrupt with the hero changing his mind about being in a relationship between one breath and the next. No chemistry between the main characters.

I liked this story but the cover makes you think (with how far along she is on the cover) that we will get to the birth that was a total bummer but other then that well worth the read

Great Read! Don't know why it is not on Goodreads Book List? But here is a highlight from the book...

What an odd reason to get married. Besides... "It's my job to protect you. And the baby." Reaching for her arm, Leo drew her onto his lap. That required a bit of angling and adjusting, but soon she was right where he wanted her. "I was going to suggest we move in together. Preferably here. How about it?" "Leo." A pucker formed between her eyebrows. “You’ve gotten stuck in your thinking. We’re having a baby. I love you. We stand side by side even when things go wrong. I need to know we’ll always be here for each other, and our child deserves that security, too.” “Of course I’ll always be here for you. I love you.” He tightened his grip around her. “Think about it, okay?” Nora kissed his temple. “You don’t have to give me an answer right now.” “All right.” If he said no to marriage, would she still say yes to him moving in? He had a feeling she wouldn’t. That made no sense. They were friends, as well as lovers. They belonged... Together. Leo didn’t know any other couple where the woman had proposed. But then, they were different from other couples in a lot of ways.

This is the 3rd Jacqueline Diamond book I read. I stopped reading this book at chapter 5 because I couldn't get into the characters or the story.

Booklover says

So so read,just bored while reading,could'nt connect with characters,Leo is a detective and Nora a doctor,felt Leo-Nora should have been shown spending more time together,getting to know each other but throughout the story both are very busy with their career,all the time they are busy with their cases and whenever they meet they just end up in bed together,when they never spent any time together,did not feel any of them falling in love with each other,they have past issues,Nora is still hurting from her recent divorce & Leo is not ready to be a father but he is ready to be a uncle to his child and most of the part in story he is busy with case.With Leo-Nora we also have other secondary characters,a teenage couple Ralph-Suzy- their unplanned pregnancy,miscarriage,anger,blames and finally re-uniting.

The story lacked continuity,characters were not well developed,the issues were not talked,we hardly get any info's of Leo-his family,why they were distant

Will rate this book 1.5 star
