This book is awesome! It is definitely one of the books that you should read. I am a 10 year old girl who reads often. I was able to read this book in 2 1/2 days. The best part of the book was when they helped Frankie come back to life!

I haven't watched the movie yet, but I thought the story was awesome. Monster High movies take up some really strong and complex topics, & I think converting them into short chapter books is perfect for readers & MH fans everywhere.

A great junior novel for those that love a mystery. It is intriguing and exciting. Such a great message about accepting all types of people (or Monsters). It helps us to look at our differences and to simply befriend people even if they are different than you. I love that the novel highlights that we all have something that we don't like about ourselves. You simply accept those things and focus on the positives. Celebrate our uniqueness and be kind.

Still a good book, but certainly not the best from the books I read in this series.

I think the main culprit would be Sparky. Dear Lord, what a rotten, annoying boy that is. I can understand why he did things, but that doesn't make them better. I hated him throughout the book, and of course also already knew who he really was (I mean, duh, it is so easy to see, the hints are everywhere). I just wanted to skip through all the Sparky stuff, but sadly I knew he would turn out to be important, so I just kept on reading. :|

The fun parts were the new monsters we have + a new romance that is blossoming between two characters (Which seems to be the theme of all these books. New Monsters + Bad person + romance.). Neightan was awesome, though he did look a bit weird. Sorry, but really, a unicorn + zombie? Um.... were the creators out of options or something?

All the others did make more sense. A girl + centaur's legs/horse or a ghost mermaid.

Still they were great characters, and they also brought some reality in the book and showed that Monster High truly is a place for any and all monsters.

Because even though everyone is pretty spooky, creepy, scary, you still have discrimination against those that are different (Fusions). It was interesting that such a real theme was written this way. It is not the first time that this theme pops up, but I think it was even better written in this book (and I would also say the Haunted book in this series with the Solids and the Ghosts).

This book is all about Frankie Stein and her scaritage. Her parents refuse to tell her anything about it (but later you will find out why), and she is in trouble with a teacher thanks to that.

Frankie is such a sweet, amazing character, and near the end I just cried a bit at what happened there.

Of course, as I said, there is also romance, just like every book, the main character will find her boy of dreams (generally a brand-new character).

Ah, and we also find out more about Rebecca and her father. Which brought some more tears in my eyes during several moments. Awwww.

The story was really great, and I loved that for once it took place at Monster High again. I loved all the other books that had travel and such, but this one was also nice because I love Monster High.

I also loved what happened to the ghouls, it did bring them closer to each other in the end, and I think that is just so sweet. Especially some of them could really use that extra push to friendship looks at Toralei or Cleo.

All in all, this was one interesting book, but again, the addition of Sparky didn't make it very good. Still I would recommend it because of the backstory it gives + the cute romance.

Freaky Fusion

PLOT: Fusions are a blend of two different sets of monsters. There's a new set of fusions at Monster High. And the other Monster's don't quite know how to take Nathan,(zombie/unicorn) Bonita, (skeleton/moth) Avia, (harpy/centaur) and Sirena (mermaid/ghost). Who other than Nathan seem a little standoffish. So what brings them together? The Bite-centennial (which celebrates the history of the origins of MH), a incomplete scaritage report (from Frankie whose parents haven't told her anything about her grandfather Victor), a trip back in time (resulting from a trip to the Catacombs to find out more about Frankie's grandfather that leads the Monsters to Hexicah Steam's (Robecca's fathers) secret laboratory), and the accidental fusion of Clawdeen/Venus, Cleo/Torelli Robecca/Draculaura and Jinafire/Lagoona.

MY THOUGHTS:

*Nathan and Frankie are so cute together! I liked this one. I liked the Fusions!

*(NATHAN) especially. He kind of took the spotlight and the others were just background. Although in teaching the new MH fusions to deal with their other halves we did get a little more background on them. Nathan's chivalry and shyness endeared me to him. But yet again, I think the creators are stretching again in creating these new characters. Also, his clumsiness makes him as Frankie said "totes adorable".

*(AVIA) as a character I didn't immediately warm to because she's so STRONGLY against the monsters. She judges them based on NOTHING and seems to be the main one not wanting to give them a chance. I did read her diary that she got asked to give a ride at some boys sister's birthday party, she took offense to that, and he gave her and the other Fusions chase. However, that's not a good enough reason to have mistrust for everyone at the new school you go too. Come ON! That's lame! You're mean because you assume everyone's not gonna accept you until they prove you otherwise. Yeah, I get its good sometimes to keep your guard up, but you also have to keep an open mind. And maybe the kid truly didn't know centaurs don't give rides. Your bottom half is that of a horse for goodness sake! She does help Robecca and Draculaura with a lesson of taking charge, but I guess she's the type character that's hard to love. Take it or leave it. That's who she is. And I just haven't found the like yet in her. Are there more stories (webisodes with her)? But if anything I like about her she takes a strong sense of pride in her heritage. She speaks fondly of her parents and how they meet in her journal. Interesting she's into Manny.

*(SIRENA) is the "dizzy" one. It works. She's not the annoying kind. Kinda of the likable clueless that reminds you of Cher from Clueless. She distracts the monster in the beginning of the book. "Over here." "No over here." So even though she's a lil loopy she's brave.

*(BONITA) this character is very much like Sirena. So much so I wasn't sure which one I was describing and I kind of forgot what this one did. But she's the one that helps Clawvenus in the garden with meditating. Honestly, she was a little one dimensional. All we get from her is that she chews her clothes (from her moth side) and she's the nervous type. Sometimes Monster High brings in these character's, sticks them in books. and doesn't flesh them out enough for me.

*(SPARKY) I appreciated the ties between him and Frankie. Such as I think it was Holt Hyde in the books that nicknamed Frankie "Sparky". Also, I remember the book where Frankie tried to create her first pet and similarly it didn't want to stay with her either and she was disappointed same as her grandfather with his creation. (Frankie's Journal The New Ghoul In School). Sparky also made me want to read the original story of the character from which his origin was created. But I thought it was weird that Mr. and Mrs. Stein didn't tell Frankie because they wanted her to meet him in person. HUNH? So they knew one day she'd traveled back in time to find him. That did NOT make ANY SENSE! Sparky though wasn't a very likable character. But I did find myself feeling sorry for him that deep down all he really seemed to want was a family.

*(HEXICAH)- I liked that we got introduced to him. Well, this is interesting. According to his journal, he's part fae. I also didn't know he was made into a doll. He's VERY handsome! In the story, he sheds a lot of light (figurately and literally) on how to create life. Which down the line brings the creation of the Steins and our girl (ghoul) Frankie.

*Somehow the doll Ghoulia and the one I remember from the movie's new hair looked NOTHING alike. The movie one's hair was SNATCHED!

*(PLOT) Liked. 1 The old Fusions teaching the newer fusions to create a balance with one another 2. The Catacombs continues to fascinate me. Not only is there a secret Halloween museum/ballroom in there, now there's also a hidden lab. How many other hidden treasures will we get to find out about down there? 3. That we got the origins of the Steins 4. Frankie finding her spark & did she EVER find her spark. She lite into old grand-daddy. Plus I can't be the first to have wondered if not only was the recharge chamber that but a transformation chamber like Steve Urkels. Her hair AND clothe's were changed. Dislike: There really wasn't anything I disliked about this one.

RATING 7

Lots of black-and-white illustrations plus some color pages. The book covers the movie. It's well done and if you liked the movie you will very probably like this junior novel version.
