Voices from the Rainbow Traci Leigh Taylor

This collection of stories from more than fifty individuals presents the unsent letters, trials by fire, and heart-songs of wounded spirits begging to be heard. Traci Leigh Taylor listened. Four years of interviews and correspondence with LGBTQ people across the United States and around the globe is captured in first-person accounts that lift hearts and rend souls. Voices from the Rainbow delves into the world of lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and queer-where the human struggle for love and acceptance is the common denominator. This book offers a path to understanding, acceptance, and healing. It is a call to love.

Traci Taylor says

Voices from the Rainbow is a collection of interviews and letters from more than fifty LGBTQ individuals. Voices from the Rainbow delves into the world of lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and queer--where the human struggle for love and acceptance is the common denominator. This book offers a path to understanding, acceptance, and healing. It is a call to love. My intended audience is parents and friends of LGBTQ individuals to help answer questions and enlightens them to the struggle that still imprisons many LGBTQ in the US and other countries. This book is also intended for LGBTQ people of all ages to help them feel like they are not alone.

When my son, Daniel, came out in 1996 at the age of 15, I was thrust into a whole new world that I wanted to understand. Daniel was touring with his movie, The Big Gay Musical, when he announced in front of a Washington, D.C., audience that not only did his mom not mind that he was in a gay movie, I was writing an LGBTQ book. So my four year journey began of interviewing and receiving letters and as the book transformed, so did I.

Recently PQ monthly interviewed me for their newspaper. <http://www.pqmonthly.com/voices-from-...>
Praise for Voices from the Rainbow

“VOICES from the RAINBOW offers a chance to hear the deeply personal stories and share the secrets of the LGBTQ community in a way that will first crack open and then heal your heart. Taylor creates a safe harbor for self-discovery, conflict, love and acceptance. VOICES FROM THE RAINBOW shines a light on the shared humanity that is common to us all.”

— Tom Viola, Executive Director, BROADWAY CARES/EQUITY FIGHTS AIDS

“Taylor has taken her love, compassion, and caring around the country to get people’s stories and has beautifully melded them with her own inspirational story. Voices from the Rainbow combats hate and homophobia while helping LGBTQ youth to learn to love themselves.”

— Fred M. Caruso, Award-winning producer, writer, director, and actor: The Big Gay Musical

“The power and beauty of what Taylor has accomplished is undeniable and reveals powerful emotional truths. Taylor's book operates at the level of the profoundly personal but finishes with a strong sense not only of a community of compassionate, intelligent souls, but of our society's continued need to better support our LGBTQ members. They are, after all, our children.”

— Dan DeWeese, Writing Center Coordinator, Portland State University and author, You Don't Love This Man

Trevor Kinney says

A great tool to helping confused or lost LGBTQ members find their way home and become comfortable with themselves through the stories and testimonies of other who were once lost. Momma Traci has done a wonderful job at creating this amazing collaboration of so many LGBTQ's struggles, hurdles and accomplishments of the every day homosexual person.
