Obsidian Blade

Morgan Rhodes

Obsidian Blade Morgan Rhodes

Magnus from Falling Kingdoms and Maddox from A Book of Spirits and Thieves are on an epic quest through time in this series-bridging novella.

In a garden of ancient ruins on the cliffs of Limeros, Prince Magnus comes face-to-face with a witch. The old woman incapacitates him with a spell, presses a single object into his hand—an obsidian blade—and tells him to bring it to a woman named Samara before the sun sets and his portal home closes forever.

A flash of dark magic transports Magnus back in time to a Mytica he's only heard about in storybooks. Lost in this foreign land, Magnus sets out to find Samara. But a chance encounter with the rumored Witch Boy derails his journey. Magnus saves Maddox from a beating, but the cruel Livius is now on their tail. The sun is starting to set. Time is running out. Both boys must fight for their lives.

Follow legendary bad boy Magnus and the enigmatic Maddox as their worlds collide in this high-stakes adventure.

Jessica (a GREAT read) says

Obsidian Blade was a quick little read that combines Morgan Rhodes Falling Kingdoms and Spirits and Thieves series! Magnus meets Maddox, if you will! It's been a long time since I read A Book of Spirits and Thieves and can't quite remember it much. But I do vaguely recall Maddox, but only vaguely, sadly. I hope to be reading the next book in that series somewhat soon.

Anyway, in this story, Magnus is thrust back in time, to Maddox's time, in order to deliver an obsidian blade to a witch. Magnus is going to have to find some help for this one, which as you know, Magnus isn't one to ask for help.

This story takes place before Falling Kingdoms I think, Magnus is sixteen...and though I can't remember his age currently I know it's older than that. Even if by a year. So it was sort of odd to see him being his old self. But even then, he was still that boy just wanting to find somewhere to belong and have someone care about him. He's cold in order to keep himself from being hurt further.

This was definitely a short read of 50 some odd pages (according to my Kindle) but it was still a fun little read! I love crossovers and I hadn't really expected to see one with these two series since they are several hundred years apart time wise. So it was definitely a fun little read. I definitely think it's a crossover kind of read that is just for enjoyment, because I am not really seeing anything that will serve a purpose in the Falling Kingdoms world, as for the Spirits and Thieves world, that will remain to be seen until I get myself reacquainted with that world! Definitely a must read for fans of both these series!

Overall Rating 4/5 stars

Marhaba Gul says

But I see a light, a golden light as bright as the sun that you will be drawn to without a choice. You will resist, but you will fail. Be careful, though. Moths are also drawn to flames.

The good things about it?

1. A 16yo Magnus
 2. Magnus making a friend
 3. Magneo hint

Radmila says

"Farewell my friend", Magnus whispered. "And good luck."

Magnus .

Wanderlust_WL says

Any content with Magnus and his sarcastic remarks will always make my day<3

Anna says

4 o 5 estrellas, no sé, pq las novellas me saben a poco.

Magnus me encanta y siempre es un placer "verlo".

Me he quedado con ganas de saber más sobre Maddox, así que va a ser mi siguiente lectura :o)

Amanda says

Oh good god....what was life before this series? SO GOOD. I am lovvvvving these new characters we're meeting in these novellas and I hope we can see more of them in future books! There's so much mystery behind this story and I can't get enough. Definitely would recommend reading this if you've read The Falling Kingdom series and/or plan to!

Azbaqiyah says

It's a happiness when two of my favourite characters do a crossover!

FIVE STARS FOR MAGNUS

Brittany (Hiatus-On/Off) says

Ahhh!!!! Another one!!! smiles even bigger

Kristy Mauna says

"I know that you feel. I know that you hurt. I know that you could be brave if you'd allow yourself the chance."

There are a few things this short story managed to do for me. . .

1. I'm convinced I need a full book of only Magnus's POV.
2. I need to read the Spirits and Thieves series.
3. I love Prince Magnus Lukas Damora, oh wait I knew that already.
4. MAGNEO FOREVER (knew this already also)

"So many shadows to navigate in the gathering darkness. But I see a light - a golden light as bright as the sun that you will be drawn to without a choice. You will resist, but you will fail. Be careful, though. Moths are also drawn to flames."

5. Need more of Magnus and Maddox together, tbh.

"Clearly, I have no friends. And, based on the short time I've known you, I'm in serious doubt that you have any either."

"Clearly."

Just brilliant.

Why did this take me so long wtf it's legit 80 pages long

Anyway this was amazing, as I'd thought it would be. This series is SO amazing and inspires me so much you have no idea. I just love the magic, the aspect of the world, the elementia magic. It's just all so cool.

Also my favourite prince Magnus was utterly superb in this. Loved him.

Magnus and Maddox together? Yes! Loved this short novella! I especially loved the small snippet of Cleo. Full review on my blog <https://literarydust.wordpress.com/20...>

Maye says

Yey, another Magnus novella! His interactions with Maddox from Spirit and Thieves was fun to read. Wish it was longer tho because I just can't get enough of this bad boy.
