For Katie Lewis, Patrick McKinley had always been the cocky boy next door. He'd moved in and befriended her at a time when she was trying to mend her broken heart.

Zach Lawson had left her shattered after he moved across the country to pursue his dream of attending art school. While trying to move on, like Zach had asked her to, Katie met Patrick. At fourteen, she had no idea how much Patrick would end up meaning to her.

Three years later on graduation day, Patrick decides to take a chance and change their friendship forever when he kisses Katie. Now, he just needs to sort out what it all means and if he can turn this friendship into something more.

Katie finally got what she wanted most, for Patrick to see her as more than a friend. But, moving from friends to lovers isn't as easy as it seems. Trust, desire, and need begin to battle for dominance.

As the summer goes by, both secretly wonder if they'll make it. Attending different colleges in different states, a crazy roommate, and past relationships deciding that they don't want to stay in the past but become part of the present are only some of the hurdles that they will face.

The Boy Next Door is Book Two in the Second Chances series.

What an amazing series. I love it. Heather D'Agostino is such a talented author. This book is full of romance and not about just sex. I fell in love with Hannah in this book because Matt is such a loser. She is was too good for him. I wanna know what happened and whats going to happen in the last book. One of my favorite series.

The Boy Next Door is the second book in the Second Chances series by Heather D'Agostino. I am absolutely loving this series. The second book was fabulous with a storyline that had me hooked from beginning to end. I love how the author is continuing the previous characters from book one's story in this book....just makes the character connection that much better. The love and chemistry between the Patrick & Katie was great. Can't wait to see if Hannah and Matt can find their happily ever after in book three!!

4.5 out of 5 stars

Katie and Patrick have been friends and neighbors - nothing more. They both want more, but you know how it is when you're scared that a relationship will mess up your friendship. They were both stuck right in the middle, too scared to move forward. Until Matt takes his phone and gets their first date in motion. But they are both headed in different directions to college, is it too late for them to find love?

Patrick had gone through his closet and pulled out several of his old sweatshirts, some old hockey jerseys, some t-shirts, and even a pair of flannel pajama pants.

Katie reached in and put one of the t-shirts up to her nose and sniffed it, "It smells just like you."

"That's the point," he chuckled at the look on her face. "Whenever you get sad or lonely, just pick up something from this box and smell it. I'll be right there with you."

Maybe they can survive the long distance relationship after all!

We loved that we still got a chance to be a part of Melanie and Austin! And Austin was still doing sweet things for Melanie. Like when he planned the camp out at home for them. It was an Awwwweeeeeee moment! Where can we purchase an Austin?

Oh but we wanted to fight Patrick when we thought he was going out of town to see another girl. Like seriously you just left for college and you already cheating! Really Patrick? Really? Oh we were mad! And so was Katie, so she decided to drown her insecurities with a few shots of alcohol! Right on girl! Wellllllll we may have jumped the gun a bit on this one...see how it turns out by READING the book!

Remember in the first book, Unbreak Me, we were rooting for Zach to come back! Wellllll he made an appearance and we kind of changed our mind about him. Ugh! Like it was the wrong time for him to be back, and they way he treated Eden was crazy! We understand you never got over Katie, but you don't have to hurt Eden in the process.

Heather D'Agostino just does a great job of pulling us in with this story. We love how Katie stood her ground and never compromised what she believed in. It was freaking refreshing! We are looking forward to more of Hannah! For some reason she has always been the character we really wanted to know more about. You know how it is - the quiet girl in the corner commands attention. That is how Hannah is for us!
